

Bio-Research Projects

Projects that are embraced by MEDCO's research packages are vital in their socio-economic contribution to the nation. They are intended to enhance agricultural production and productivity, public health and employment generation through import substitution. Their contribution in scientific and technological progress to Ethiopia is enormous.
